

Red Lion

Takes top awards at 2013
Industrial Automation Show.

Red Lion recently won the following awards during the 2013 Industrial Automation Show that took place in Shanghai:

Industrial Control Award from Plant Engineering China for our Graphite™ series of advanced operator interface panels.

“2013 Best Product Award” in the Networking Communications category by Control Engineering China for our NT24k managed Gigabit Ethernet switch series.

“2012-2013 China Annual Most Popular Product” award from CA168 for the NT24k.

“2012-2013 Annual Most Growth Potential Brand” award from CA168 for the company’s dedication to convergence, transformation and change.

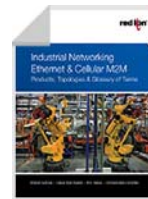

Our Graphite and NT24k products help plant managers, engineers and manufacturers evolve operations and achieve a truly connected environment where machines and devices can communicate in real time, speaking the same language over a

“These awards further validate Red Lion’s long history of commitment to superior innovation and engineering. We are honored to be considered a top brand in China. New HMI and industrial Ethernet capabilities are changing the way today’s connected world operates, and Red Lion’s newest industrial automation and networking products are at the forefront of this transformation.”

Michael Wang
China General Manager, Red Lion Controls

Download Graphite HMI Brochure.

Download Networking Guide.

seamlessly integrated communications platform. The implementation of HMIs and industrial Ethernet switches in today's connected factory and remote locations result in reduced costs, better process control and safer working environments.

Download the Graphite HMI Brochure or our new Networking Guide to learn more about our industrial automation and networking products.

Connect. Monitor. Control.

+1 (717) 767-6511 | info@redlion.net | better.redlion.net